I AM

Patient Safety

Tony Wise is committed to patient safety at Einstein Medical Center Montgomery. As a member of the environmental services team, Tony stands out as someone willing to step outside his comfort zone to keep patients safe.

Tony was buffing the hospital floors with his “Zamboni-like” machine. As he was passing one of the rooms, a bed alarm began to ring and he noticed an elderly patient trying to get up. Tony immediately stopped his machine and went in to talk to the patient. He asked the patient to stay in bed until the nurse responded soon after.

All agreed Tony’s quick thinking and engagement of the patient in a conversation helped to keep the patient safe from a fall. When he was later thanked for his quick action, Tony said: “That is what we do. We are here to help our patients and keep them safe.”

Join the Pennsylvania Patient Safety Authority in congratulating Tony Wise for stepping outside his comfort zone to keep patients safe at Einstein Medical Center Montgomery.
